

Checklist for Student Success

(courtesy of Algonquin College)

- Attend all lectures, including the one right before a test.
- Create study notes by summarizing readings and lecture notes.
- Work with a study group or tutor to discuss questions.
- Write important due dates in an agenda and keep it with you all of the time.
- Start assignments early.
- Use a study schedule.
- If applicable, use accommodations provided (remember to submit a test accommodation request well in advance of your test date).
- Meet with professors to ask questions about course content.
- Take responsibility for your education and use all of the help that is available.
- Ask for help when you need it (for extra support, you may want to consider accessing the services of a Learning Strategist or Assistive Technologist).
